ATHOL

Edenton vicinity, Chowan County, North Carolina

Owner: Wood familyDate of erection: Early nineteenth centuryPresent condition: GoodDescription:

Frame; two stories; gable roof; shed porch across front; full-height rear wing with shed porches on either side. Front five bays; center door with glazed transom and sidelights; lower sash 9/9, upper 6/9. The posts of all porches are full-height, attenuated Ionic columns. Those of the rear porches support intermediate galleries.

The main house is one room deep with central hall. This leads to a rear cross hall which opens on the side porches. In the wing is one large room on each floor with windows on three sides. On the first floor this has a double door leading to a small Ionic porch overlooking Albemarle Sound.
